Mataffin Macadamia Village all about quality

The new wing of the Care Centre encourages homely living with a look and feel of comfort and luxury

Last Monday evening, the usually quiet Mataffin Macadamia Village was abuzz with activities as it hosted the successful opening of the first phase of the new stylish wing of the Mataffin Macadamia Care Centre.

The Mataffin Macadamia Lifestyle and Assisted Living Village was established in 2011 with the offering of various types of homes and apartments.

Mr James Aling, director of the Mataffin Macadamia development company, said they are planning to develop more units in the village that is set in the heart of Halls' farming estate, just off the N4 on the outskirts of Mbombela.

The Mataffin Macadamia Village is one of the first of its kind. It not only has an Assisted Living Village with the estate, but also a conjoined lifestyle estate where young families, young adults and independent members of the 50-and-above community are all welcome.

The Mataffin Macadamia Care Centre which is located in this secure village, offers 24-hour emergency assistance for all residents. The company has been hard at work in establishing a new way of ensuring that anyone receiving the services or care from the centre, is provided with trained, dedicated staff who are there to look after you or your loved one's attentive care needs. They have also embarked on outsourcing many of their internal service departments which now allows for them to focus on individual care to be given to those who require it. The new wing of the Care Centre, which comprises eight en-suite, spacious rooms, resembles nothing of a hospital and rather encourages homely living with a look and feel of comfort and luxury, which research shows is essential when taking care of the elderly or those requiring respite care. "Phase two of construction of the care centre will start in June. We are expecting it to be completed before Christmas this year. Prospective residents can rest assured that we will have the best care facilities for them to enjoy," said Aling.

Following the opening function, Macadamia Care arranged for a presentation by Mr Rob Jones of Shire Retirement Properties on the various aspects of retirement living. Jones delivered a thought-provoking presentation titled, "Retirement intelligence". It covered research done by Shire regarding factors that affect retirement both negatively and positively.
